Re: Legal entity name change from “Johnson Controls” to “Clarios”

Dear Valued Supplier,

As informed in April 2019, Johnson Controls has sold its global battery division Power Solutions to Brookfield Business Partners and is now formally transitioning the various entity names from Johnson Controls to new name Clarios.

A list of entities being already registered you can find on next page. This list will be updated regularly, as the name change process for all entities will be ongoing within next 2 month's.
Please check for updates on regular base.

The EMEA Headquarters Johnson Controls GmbH & Co. KGaA will continue operating under current name until further notice.

During this transition period, you might encounter both names due to ongoing IT changes. Any transaction which you make on either name will be automatically converted internally to be handled correctly.

Due to special IT maintenance work, e-mail addresses of common e-mail accounts and our accounting team as well as some URL links mentioned on our purchase orders will be changed at a later time.

It is however important to note that all other data like VAT.-No.'s, Tax-ID's, commercial registration numbers, bank accounts and addresses as well as existing purchase orders and contracts will remain unchanged.

We apologize for any inconvenience these changes might cause and appreciate your support during this transition phase.

If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to your current representative.

Sincerely,

Michael Pesch
Vice President Procurement EMEA
